INTRODUCTION

This finding aid covers the personal papers of Frank Goad Clement (1920-1969). Mr. Clement served three terms as Governor of Tennessee: 1953-1955; 1955-1959; and 1963-1967. Previously he was a former F. B. I. agent, Chief Counsel for the State Public Utilities Commission; and a practicing Attorney in Dickson and Nashville, Tennessee. The Tennessee State Library and Archives received these materials on March 14, 1991, from the Clement family, through the agency of F. Lynne Bachleder for the State of Tennessee via contract with Designing Eye of Martinsville, Virginia. Mr. Clement's papers include certificates, clippings, correspondence, financial records, invitations and programs, legal files, political campaign materials, photographs, schedules, and scrapbooks and speeches, all reflective of his professional career.

Mr. Clement's papers, along with other Clement historical artifacts, were housed for many years in the old Halbrook Hotel in Dickson, Tennessee. Mr. Clement's mother, Maybelle Goad Clement, and her parents formerly owned and operated the Halbrook Hotel. The Frank G. Clement artifacts are presently in storage at the Tennessee State Museum.

The inclusive dates of the material is for the period 1920 through 1969, although the bulk of the material is concentrated between 1952 through 1969. Many of the clippings in the scrapbooks were loose and had to be reaffixed to the pages. The papers in the collection, except for most of the clippings, are original. There are no restrictions on the collection.

Although there are numerous items in the collection relating to Clement's terms as governor, the official papers of Governor Clement are in a special collection in the Tennessee State Library and Archives identified as Governor Frank G. Clement.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Frank Goad Clement Papers, containing approximately 6000 items and 66 volumes, span the period 1920-1969, although it is largely concentrated between 1952-1969. The material is arranged alphabetically by type of document and is composed of certificates, clippings, correspondence, financial records, invitations, programs, etc., legal files, political campaign materials, photographs, drawings, etc., scheduling, scrapbooks, speeches, addresses, etc., and several miscellaneous items.

There are over fifty certificates issued to Frank Goad Clement (1920-1969) ranging from honorary appointments to appreciation for service rendered by the former governor of Tennessee.

Clippings largely pertain to Clement and his role in Tennessee politics between 1952-1967. They cover such topics as Clement's relationship with Sen. Estes Kefauver; as Tennessee American Legion Commander; his position on desegregation in the 1950s; as the keynote speaker at the Democratic national convention in 1956; and as a religious person as well as a speaker. There are other clippings relating to Annabelle Clement O'Brien (1923- ), Maybelle Goad Clement (1895-1987), Lucille Christianson Clement (1920- ), Dave Garoway and the "Today" show, Billy Graham and Lamar Alexander.

Correspondence comprises a substantial portion of the collection. It has been divided into three categories: general, subject, and Clement's political campaigns. General correspondence, in turn, has been sub-divided according to the receiver. Among the more prominent correspondents are Eddy Arnold, Gene Autry, James ("Jim") Farley, Billy Graham, J. Edgar Hoover, William Powell, and Harry S. Truman. Among the topics found in the subject division of the correspondence are the Billy Graham Crusade, 1953-1958, civil rights, the "Face the Nation" radio interview of Sept. 15, 1957, and Clement's keynote address to the Democratic national convention in 1956.

Among the significant court cases in the legal files is the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., 1948-1950 case (Box 36, Folder 6). Clement played an important role in the judicial proceedings as he was the Chief Counsel for the State Public Utilities Commission.

There are several Tennessee State Supreme Court cases in the legal files due to the appointment of Robert S. Clement (1900-1981), father of Gov. Clement, to fill a temporary vacancy on the bench in 1964-1965.

One of the interesting parts of the collection are the lists of the names who were awarded low license plates in the period 1952-1958.

Political campaign materials represent a large portion of the Clement papers. They have been chronologically arranged according to the various campaigns and then identified by type of materials, such as campaign literature, clippings, correspondence, press releases, scheduling, speeches, etc.

Gov. Clement was very much concerned with public image. This is reflected in the numerous photographs (both portrait and group pictures) found in the collection. These photos were often made at political appearances and rallies, as well as with family members. In addition to personal and group pictures, there are photographs of many prominent entertainers and state and national politicians, including Roy Acuff, Jack Benny, Lloyd Bridges, Gordon Browning, Paul Butler, Martha Carson, Jerome (“Dizzy”) Dean, Dwight Eisenhower, Buford Ellington, Billie Sol Estes, Eddie Fisher, “Tennessee” Ernie Ford, Richard Fulton, Dave Garoway, Bob Hope, Cordell Hull, Hubert Humphrey, Lyndon Johnson, Estes Kefauver, John F. Kennedy, Jim McCord, Gregory Peck, Webb Pierce, Elvis Presley, Roy Rogers, Dinah Shore, Kate Smith, Hank Snow, Harry S. Truman, Ernest Tubb, Herbert Walters, Ben West, Esther Williams, G. Mennen Williams and Johnny Wright.

There are sixty seven scrapbooks located among the oversize materials. Most of the scrapbooks were arranged by Frank Clement’s mother, Maybelle Goad Clement. Found in the scrapbooks are clippings, correspondence, memorabilia and photographs related to the former governor, his family, and his parents.

Four-hundred and fifty-nine speeches are contained in the Clement papers, with all but thirty-nine being delivered by Mr. Clement. The speeches are arranged chronologically and then alphabetically by speaker.

Both Frank Clement and his father Robert were actively involved in church activities. The younger Clement frequently taught “The Way Class” at McKendree United Methodist Church in Nashville, while the elder Clement led the “Pioneer Class” at the Baptist Church in Dickson, Tennessee. Robert Clement’s Sunday School lessons, neatly typed for the years 1961, 1963, 1966, 1967, 1968, 1969, and 1972, are in the collection. To aid researchers a list of Mr. Clement’s staff has been included.

Overall the Frank Goad Clement Papers provide important information for the years Mr. Clement spent in public office as well as in private law practice. More importantly, these papers shed light on why Clement was considered one of the most gifted orators of his time, as well as demonstrating his deep religious convictions.
